Our Partnership With Building STEPS

Headquartered in Baltimore, Maryland since 1999, Building STEPS is a private non-profit organization developed to expose bright, underserved students to professions that rely on science and technology and to help them excel in these fields where minorities are overwhelmingly underrepresented.

This year we are proud to have two Building STEPS interns, Ms. Edith Venable (Dunbar HS) and Ms. Gillen Saunders (Forest Park HS).

Building STEPS offers the exposure, guidance, and support system for its students to succeed. Also, here at the C2C Pipeline's Freedom School, we have two of the best junior servant leader interns (JSLs), Edith Venable and Gillen Saunders who are apart of this Building Steps foundation. They help our scholars to always look for the best and nothing but the best in every respectful and polite way.

"Hats off to our Scholars"

Hats off to the following scholars for their wonderful work in their classrooms: Trayvon Allison, Destinee Guzman, and Travis Briscoe. Check out some of our scholars work!!!!

"Mirror" written by Trayvon Allison

I hate when people live their lives based on how other people think of them. They don't love themselves enough to be who they are. Instead they need to hear the thoughts of love from other people in order to feel secure. So they changed because they feel that if they look or act this way that someone will love them. And yeah that person might love them but it's always someone to talk about you no matter what. And if gaining the world meant losing your soul and who you truly are inside wouldn't you rather have nothing? So be yourself! You are you and I'll be me because everything I'm not made me everything I am.

"Sailing through life" written by Travis Briscoe

Thank you for this award. I know that when I was little I never had dreamed I'd even be able to accomplish what I have done. It is a tremendous honor and I thank you all. Thank You.

"Destinee's Quote"

"Forget what others think or say, be the best you can be everyday." Written by Destinee Guzman
